THE VETO CONFERENCE.

LEADERS MEET.

CONCILIATORY TORY ATTITUDE.

LONDON, June 16. Mr. F. E. Smith, M.P. (Conservative), has written a letter to the press, stating that it is impossible to defend the existing disparity of parties in the House of Lords, and that both should have the same chance of carrying legislation.

Liberal newspapers welcome the letter. The "Daily Chronicle" writes that if this is the mood of the Conservative leaders the prospects of the conference are more hopeful.

Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Balfour, Unionist leaders, have a short conference yesterday with Mr. Asquith, the Prime Minister, in the House of Commons.

LONDON, June 15. Negotiations for a conference on the powers of the House of Lords are proceeding smoothly.

Mr. Asquith replied that it would be useless for the Government to enter a conference unless it can rely, as he believes it can, on the confidence of its supporters.

BOOM PRICES.

COST OF BUILDING.

FIFTY PER CENT. INCREASE IN TEN YEARS.

LONDON, June 15.

Two years ago the cost of building in Sydney was 50 per cent. less than it is today. Five years ago the cost of building in Sydney was 30 per cent. less than it is today.

Sydney within the last decade has passed through two very important periods of its history. It reached a bedrock of depression, and ascended to the height of prosperity. This was due to the boom in the wool and sugar industries, and the consequent increase of building operations.

Two years ago the people of this State were feeling severely the effects of bank failure, drought, and a general depression of the trade. At that time the cost of building was practically at a standstill. Competition among builders was very keen. The price of material was at a very low standard. Labour was plentiful. Bricks were obtained for 2s. 6d. Timber was 2s. 6d. per cubic foot. Lumber was 1s. 6d. per cubic foot. The cost of building was 50 per cent. less than it is today.

BANK AND DISTRICT

THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD,
—“About the very worst thing—

is to place him in the youth on the railway service. It is a sentiment that the writer has recently given private utterance to, very much in the same manner as the "disappointed Parent" in the "Lionel Lincoln" column. I shall be glad to issue promptly a notice in this space in order to ventilate my ideas on this very important subject in your columns.

In answer to your correspondent, I have two suggestions. The first may appear somewhat inconsistent holding such a position. But I trust my judgment and desire that it will be of service. I may add that both having been in the railway service, I am sure that the clerks can be any more than the average of the public. I have known a number of clerks dealing far with the younger, prior to the crisis here, and the Melbourne branch of the railway, and I have traded pretty well throughout the country. I have been in the railway service for some years past, and I have attained the position of one of the clerks in the same office at a salary of £100 per annum.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD
—Agent the interesting letter of "Disappointed Parent," who writes apparently much inside knowledge about the mechanics done out in the shops of the bank and insurance clerks. I would like to permit me to add my quota of information upon the subject. First, my man-are, to my mind, the best paid of any of the clerical staff. They are not, as it absolutely demands more than a super-commercial training. Yet we find the skilled and uneducated labourer of the shops, who are not, as a rule, with the shillings per item, and so-called paid to keep up. The clerk must dress well in a semi-fashionable neighbourhood, and give the idea of a gentleman, with his dress really bestowed on him.

and it is more than apparent that the clerks in our midst will receive consideration than they have in the past at the hands of our politicians.

Hon. J. H. Turner, Agent-General for Columbia, and his wife have recently celebrated their golden wedding. They were married in the City of London in 1860, and says later sailed for the Hawaiian Islands. They were on the reception committee when King Kalakoua, then Prince of Wales visited Charles and Mr. Turner received the honor of being the first to greet the bright young "Princess" when she landed in Honolulu. The Prince was "forty years later than the Princess." Forty years later than the Prince was, the Princess was again on a reception committee, and
